Curriculum

Tomás Mestre Santos graduated from the Iscte – Instituto Universitário de Lisboa in 2021 with a degree in Telecommunications and Computer Engineering. He obtained his M.Sc. in Telecommunications and Computer Engineering, also in Iscte – Instituto Universitário de Lisboa, in October 2023, with a research scholarship and merit recognized by the President of the Order of Engineers.

Regarding his research, integrated in the Centro de Investigação em Ciências da Informação, Tecnologias e Arquitetura and Instituto de Telecomunicações, his main areas of research are crowd monitoring, smart tourism, and sensors, areas he addressed in his master's thesis, and has participated in a European research project in the scope of smart tourism and digital transformation.

He has also carried out teaching activities, having taught a curricular unit at Iscte as a guest assistant professor.

Research Interests

Crowd Monitoring
Sensors
Internet of Things
Edge Computing
Smart Cities
